Introduction

Senate Bill No. 53 (Act 425 of the 2010 Regular Session) requires the Department of Children and Family Services to submit this report to Civil Law and Procedure and Judiciary A committees. This act amends Louisiana law to strengthen the enforcement of child support obligations by allowing the interception and seizure of certain gaming-related winnings. The Act establishes a clear public policy linking gaming revenues to child support enforcement, authorizes regulatory and administrative procedures to withhold gaming payments from individuals with child support arrearages or overpayments, and expands the authority of the Department of Social Services to collect outstanding support obligations. The legislation reflects the state's commitment to ensuring that financial resources diverted to gaming are instead applied to the support of minor children.

Background

Prior to this Act, Louisiana law permitted the interception of various types of payments—such as lottery winnings, unemployment benefits, and settlements—to satisfy child support arrearages. However, the growing prevalence of gaming activities, including progressive slot machine annuities and cash gaming winnings, highlighted a gap in enforcement mechanisms. Legislature determined that children are adversely affected when parents with outstanding child support obligations divert funds to gaming rather than fulfilling their legal and moral responsibilities.

In response, the Act declares it to be the public policy of Louisiana that gaming winnings attributable to parents with child support arrearages should be applied toward those obligations. It grants rulemaking authority to the appropriate gaming regulatory boards, requires licensed gaming entities to withhold and remit winnings when arrearages or overpayments exist, provides liability protections for those entities, and mandates reporting by the Department of Social Services to the legislature. Additionally, the Act expands the administrative authority of the state to intercept and seize gaming-related payments, ensuring consistency with existing child support enforcement frameworks and reinforcing the state's interest in protecting the welfare of its children.
